THE FINDING OF ANNIE BURKETT

In the Muddy Waters of the Conemaugh is Found the Gruesome Corpse of the Suicide.

On the evening of the 10th of March last Annie Burkett, who, if she had lived until the 16th of next November, would have arrived at the age 16 years, took her life. The details of the story, if they were such as were proper to be made public, would be simply a disclosure of life such as we read of frequently, but in this case with the tragedy left out.

The dead girl had been "keeping company" with Robert Brendlinger, a man at least five years her senior. The mother of the girl disapproved of this, and finally the daughter confessed that improper relations had existed, and the mother sternly insisted that the intimacy should cease. The girl was way-ward, the lover persistent and the mother determined. On Thursday night Brendlinger accompanied the girl home from a revival meeting going on at Lockport, Westmoreland county, where the parties lived. He was not permitted to enter the house, and Annie was forbidden further intercourse with him. Robert departed. The girl was enraged. The mother locked the outer doors. Annie went to her room, changed her attire and then broke into the room where her mother, her eldest sister, Maggie, and her youngest brother, aged 7, were sitting, and sprang through a window, screaming as she fled; "I will drown myself! "

The mother did not regard the threat seriously and it was not until the lapse of an hour or two that the family became alarmed at the prolonged absence of the favorite girl. Then a search began. The river was but a short distance away. There were various ways of reaching the treacherous waters of the Conemaugh from the Burkett homestead. Each one of these ways was carefully followed that night, but not a foot track was discovered. Next day the alarm increased. The river was dragged for a mile each way, up and down, but no body was found. As the days lengthened into weeks various rumors got abroad. It was reported that Annie had been seen at Johnstown, Moxham, New Florence, Pittsburg and other places. The developments of last Monday proved all these stories false. On the night she sprang from the window of her home Annie flew to the river and threw herself into its waters and was drowned. The rainfall of Sunday night had magnified the river and the body of the girl was caught up by the current and carried on its surface. It was first noticed at Cokeville, and the parties who saw it made pursuit and it was finally brought to shore a mile below Blairsville on Monday morning. It presented a shocking appearance after its nine-weeks' submergence in the river, but was still recognizable. At the inquest held by Coroner M. M. Davis on Monday a brother and mother and sister identified the remains, on which were found some cheap articles of jewelry, a black skirt, waist and shoes and stockings. The mother and sister who, for the past months, had lived in an agony of suspense and had used every means of ascertaining the fate of the loved one, when brought to the place where the remains were, manifested a grief hard to withstand by the little group of spectators.

The Coroner's jury, composed of F. M. Smith, J. M. Hadfield, Thomas Murray, Dr. W. R. Miller, John Long and Robert Reed, returned a verdict of suicide, but expressing no opinion, save that of family troubles, as to the causes leading to the unhappy and unfortunate ending of the young girl's life.

They were married on Jan 28, 1920. He died on Nov 14, 1982 in Bolivar, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania ^[50]. He was also known as Bruce. Cause Of Death was Septic skock. Medical Condition was Bruce had a work related accident before 1918 where he lost 3 fingers off of his right hand. Bruce lost his left arm in a work related accident around 1930. Occupation was Operated a gas station in Bolivar. Burial in Armagh Cemetery, Armagh, Indiana County, Pennsylvania.

Notes for Alfred Bruce Clawson:

General Notes:

The one story that I like to use about my grandpap Clawson is that he was disabled by two different work related accidents. In one, he lost three fingers on his right hand (occurred before 1918 according to a draft registration card) and he had only his thumb and pointer finger. He had the other arm amputated above the elbow in another work related accident when his shirt sleeve got caught in some machinery. When he was in his sixties and seventies, he was the manager at a Western Auto store in Seward, Pennsylvania. One day, a young guy came in and pulled a gun on him and tried to rob him. I guess he figured he would be an easy prey since he was old and disabled. My grandfather reached under the counter and pulled out the gun (A 38, I believe) that he always had at the store with him and told the guy that if he didn't leave the store in five seconds that he was going to shoot him. This guy didn't expect this and he hightailed out the store without ever trying to take my grandfather on. They caught this guy later on. My grandfather could be downright stern when he needed to be but he was still a fun person to be around. Also with his disabilities, he drove a standard shift automobile most of his life. (Told by Keith Clawson)

As told by Bruce A. Clawson, when A. Bruce Clawson was growing up, he lived with his parents near the Pennsylvania Railroad main tracks near Bolivar. When walking the tracks such as to go into Bolivar, he would carry a loaded pistol. This was due to number of hobos who would ride the freight trains that passed through. The hobos were known to attack and sometimes kill people that they would encounter along the tracks.

Another story told by Bruce A. was that A. Bruce and his brother Bobby (Ralph Davis Clawson) were going through Oak Grove (north of Ligonier) in an automobile one time. A. Bruce was driving the automobile. Someone ran from the side of the road and hopped on the running boards of the automobile. A. Bruce told his brother to get the man off the car and Bobby pushed him off the car. Bobby then proceeded to fire a few shots from a pistol at this person's feet to make sure he ran away and left them alone.

According to the 1930 census, Bruce and his family were living in Bolivar, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania.
