CLAWSON. The Clawson Family of Indiana county has been settled here for over a century, and its members in every generation have been respected and useful citizens, a credit to the community and to the honored name they bear.

Benjamin Clawson, the first of the family in this part of the State, was born Aug. 27, 1781, in Huntingdon county, Pa., son Richard and Sarah (Mitchell) Clawson. He grew to manhood there, and came to western Pennsylvania when a young man, about the close of the eighteenth century, crossing the Alleghenies and making a settlement in what is now Blacklick township, Indiana county, then, however, a part of Westmoreland county. He became the owner of a large tract of land in what was at that time a wilderness, and experienced the various phases of pioneer life. He engaged in general farming and made what improvements he could upon his land, residing there until his death, which occurred when he was past eighty years of age. He is buried in Hopewell Church cemetery in Blacklick township. Mr. Clawson was twice married, the first time Feb. 21, 1811, to Mrs. Mary (Donahey) Lowers, widow of Robert Lowers, by which union there were six children, born as follows: Richard B., Dec. 15, 1811; Mary, Nov. 16, 1814 (married Samuel Bennett); Sarah, Sept. 10, 1816 (married John Clawson); William, Sept. 1, 1818 (died in infancy); William (2), Oct. 6, 1819 (also died young); Benjamin, Oct. 10, 1824. After the death of his first wife Mr. Clawson married, Dec. 1, 1838, Mary Huffman. There were no children by this marriage.

Richard B. Clawson, eldest son of Benjamin and Mary Clawson, was born Dec. 15, 1811. What education he received was obtained in the subscription schools then conducted, but for only a few months in the year. He grew to manhood in the township of his birth, and like his father made farming his occupation, his industrious and frugal habits enabling him to add to his possessions until he was one of the largest land owners in this part of the county, having upward of a thousand acres, part of which was in Green township. There his daughters and sons-in-laws settled. He spent all his life in Blacklick township, dying there in June, 1896, and was buried in the family plot in Hopewell cemetery. He was a member of the Hopewell M. E. Church, and in political belief a Democrat. On Dec. 15, 1831, Mr. Clawson was married to Rachel Davis, whose ancestors were natives of New England. She died in July, 1897, in Blacklick township, and is buried in Hopewell cemetery. Seven children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Clawson: Benjamin, born July 11, 1833, is mentioned below; Eunice, born Aug. 16, 1835, died Feb. 27, 1838; Mary Ann, born March 31, 1838, married John Donahey and settled in Green township, where she died; Silas, born July 22, 1840, died March 2, 1858; Gere, born July 31, 1847, is mentioned below; Rebecca, born March 8, 1852, married Benjamin Donahey and resided in Green township; Cynthia, born March 25, 1860, died aged seventeen years.

Benjamin Clawson was born on the old Clawson homestead in Blacklick township and attended the local public schools. Working with his father, who owned and operated over six hundred acres at that time, he became thoroughly familiar with farm work and management, and after starting out for himself became the owner of a tract of ? acres. He followed stock raising as well as general farming, and made extensive improvements upon his property during his active years, working hard and prospering deservedly. His well-directed labors and intelligent attention to all the details of his work placed him among the foremost farmers of his township, and few of its citizens have been more thoroughly respected for substantial worth and useful lives. In the last few years he has given up arduous work, enjoying the fruits of his early industry in comfortable retirement. He has never taken any part in the public affairs of his locality, supporting the Democratic party but not associating himself with any of its activities. However, he has been a leading member and worker of the Hopewell M. E. Church, at present serving as trustee and superintendent of the Sunday school.

On Oct. 12, 1897, Mr. Clawson was united in marriage with Caroline Ferguson, a native of Blacklick township, daughter of Elliott and Hulda (Clawson) Ferguson. They have had one child, Anna Mary, born July 16, 1898, who graduated from the township school in 1912, and is now, attending high school at Blairsville. Mrs. Clawson is also a member of the Hopewell M. E. Church. She is noted in the neighborhood for her generous disposition and whole-souled nature, her good deeds and kindness making her generally beloved. Besides looking after her own family she cares for two children of her deceased sister.

Gere Clawson, younger brother of Benjamin Clawson, was born July 31, 1847 on the Clawson homestead, and received a public school education. He worked with his father until he reached manhood. And when he commenced farming on his own account settled on a 300-acre tract near Hopewell Church. Though he died in his early prime, Nov. 22, 1885, he had made remarkable progress and was a prosperous farmer and stock raiser. Besides the place already mentioned, he owned a second place of 150 acres on Steward's run, known as the Sutton farm, which he bought, and which is now owned and operated by his son Boyd. Mr. Clawson is interred in Hopewell cemetery. He took no part in politics, though an interested member of the Democratic party, but he was an earnest member of the Hopewell M. E. Church and a leader in all its activities, serving as class leader and steward. He was a man of the highest moral character and strict integrity, temperate in all his habits, and noted for his fidelity to every obligation. He married Feb. 26, 1874 at Livermore, Pa., Margaret Ellen Long, daughter of Jesse M. and Sarah (Smith) Long, and they became the parents of six children, namely: Boyd is mentioned below; Benjamin Milton, born Nov. 14, 1876, is a farmer of Blacklick township; Jesse Knox, born Jan 10, 1879, is a farmer of Blacklick township; George, born March 3, 1881, is a farmer in that township; Cynthia Augusta, born Nov. 4, 1882, married Wesley Cover; Rachel, born Aug. 14, 1884, is the wife of David Creamer. After the death of Mr. Clawson his widow married Charles Creamer, son of Thompson Creamer, and by that marriage had four children, born as follows: Zora, Nov. 13, 1890; William Kebler, Feb. 5, 1892, Sarah Ann, April 16, 1894; Mabel, Nov. 5, 1895.

Boyd Clawson, son of Gere and Margaret Ellen (Long) Clawson, was born on the homestead Dec. 3, 1874, and attended public school in the home locality. When his father died he was but eleven years old, and he continued to live on the farm with his mother until he reached the age of seventeen, when he went to the home of his uncle Benjamin Clawson, on Steward's run in Blacklick township, passing the next three years there. Then married and settled on the Sutton farm, tract of 10 acres which his father had bought and there he has had his home for the last eighteen years. In addition to general farming he has engaged in stock raising to some extent, and since 1904 has been extensively interested in dairying, shipping his milk to Pittsburg. He built a silo and has other modern arrangements for giving his stock proper care, having a fine herd of Holstein which have proved very profitable. Mr. Clawson is up to date in his work, as the successful dairyman of today must be, and his thrift and careful detail of his surroundings. He is a good citizen, interesting himself in the general welfare, has served his township as school director for five years, and is a valued member of the Presbyterian Church in which he has served as trustee for fifteen years. In politics he is a Republican, present favoring Progressive principles.

On Dec. 20, 1894, Mr. Clawson married Mary Alice Fritz, a native of Blacklick township, daughter of Conrad Fritz, and they have two children, Blair Fritz and Will Gere. Mrs. Clawson is a woman of high accomplishments, a talented musician and successful music teacher.

Killed (Blairsville Press, March 27, 1868)

On Monday evening last, John Clawson, more familiarly know as 'Pepper John' of West Wheatfield township, was killed by being struck by the engine of the emigrant train near Blairsville Intersection. Mr. Clawson had been to Indiana during the day, and was sworn in as a constable for West Wheatfield township. He was on his return home, and by some means missed the accommodation train and undertook to walk from the Intersection, where he had eaten his supper and drank a glass of ale - so said, if not worse and more of it, as it is sold in that vicinity in any quantity in violation of the law - which was the last seen of him alive. We are told that the engineer of the train said, that on turning a curve about a mile east of the Intersection, he saw a man sitting on a tie a short distance ahead with his elbow on the rail. He pulled the whistle to put down the brakes, but the distance was too short to stop the train. When the engine whistled, Clawson merely turned his head, and appeared to be in too indifferent a condition to move. After the engine struck him the train was stopped and the injured man taken up and brought to this place, but he died on the road. The body was badly crushed. It was taken back to Westmoreland county for inquest. We have had an unusual number of such cases during the past year, and yet nothing is done to bring to punishment those men who violate the law every day by dealing out the poison which is the cause of it all. Oh, no! they are respectable men, and have large sums of money invested in property, and it must be protected, though for every brick, nail or foot of timber which their property contains, a human being should be destroyed. We relish this kind of justice and protection. Protect a number of men in idleness though a whole community suffers thereby. "Oh, shame, where is thy blush."

Generation 4 (con't)

Cambria Freeman, 4/2/1868, page 3, col., 1:

Indiana Evening Gazette (July 7, 1953)

Gazette Staff Writer

When the 1953-54 school term opens at Green Township High this September, a familiar personality will be missing from the institution's hallowed halls.

Miss Thankful Clawson, English and Latin teacher for 34 years at the district high school, will be missing from the scene that has featured her guidance of more than 8,000 students in her career as an Indiana County school teacher.

The proverbial gimmick characteristic of high school teeners directing fun at their tutor, "She (or he) has been here longer than the building," was seldom hurdled at this affable Green Township educator simply because it was true.

When Miss Clawson launched her career at Green Township High School in the fall of 1920, classes were held at Starford in a building now utilized as a grade school. Construction on the new Green Township High School was completed a year later and Thankful Clawson, then a veteran of 15 years of classroom calamity, moved her texts to Commodore, site of the present building.

Her retirement this summer marked a termination, of 48 years of teaching, including 39 years in Green Township school systems. "Oh yes, I've taught quite a number of sons and daughters of former students of mine, "jostled the amicable silver-thatched Miss Clawson yester day, "But I don't think any grandchildren." Closer scrutiny reveals that the retired teacher, long-time favorite as senior class advisor at Commodore, probably taught a number of "grandchildren" during her career which spans 53 years of County history.

When 17-year-old Thankful Clawson passed an examination at Cookport Academy in the spring of 1900, receiving a teacher certificate as her reward, it was undoubtedly beyond her fondest expectations of establishing some sort of record for durability as an Indiana County school teacher.

"That first year at Grisemore (1900-01) paid $25 a month," reminisced Miss Clawson in her Marion Center home yesterday, "But then, I only paid $50 that entire school year.

'I was located in Dixonville the next four years and once had 119 students, sometimes, three in one seat, in a one-room school." Miss Clawson added, "Of course, that was when the Dixonville mines were starting."

Answering an inquiry relative to "law and order" in a one-room school house with 119 students, the friendly teacher replied, "I confess that if I kept order, I didn't do much teaching."

Upon completion of four years at Dixonville and an additional term at Idamar, Thankful Clawson went to Houghton Seminary, N. Y., to pursue her high school education. She didn't receive her diploma until 1911 after leaving school for a three-year period to teach in Rayne and Green Townships, Indiana County. After graduating; from Houghton, Miss Clawson taught in Wisconsin four years, attended Taylor University at Upland, Indiana, and taught at Clymer High School before accepting a position on the Green Township High School, faculty in 1920. The first two principals she served under at Green Township High, Donald Patterson and Dean Siverd, were her former students. Other principals during her 34-year tenure included Mr. Fetterman, T. W. Fullerton and George Joiner.'

What about her best students at Green Township High School?

"I had so many of them," answered Miss. Clawson.

Edna Siverd, now Mrs. Jay Hiner, could read Latin as well as English. And then were were Louise Lovick and Ed Leadbetter. Mrs. Hiner now teaches at Dixonville." And what about her students who entered the teaching profession.

"To mention a few, there's Gertha McAnulty (Green Twp.), Mary Bagley (Green Twp.), Evelyn Nichol, Dean Siverd (Meadville), Milton and Gaylon Walker and Donald Patterson, former County Superintendent of Schools."

"I often wish I would have kept a record of my students," stated the soft-spoken Miss Clawson.

It has been estimated that she taught, at a very minimum, about 8,000 students □ and this figure [wouldn't include her advisees.

Thankful Clawson, daughter of Andrew Bingham Clawson and Martha Jane Bolvin Clawson, was born on a farm near Dixonville December 27, 1883.

Her family heritage reveals her forefathers originally settled near Black Lick before moving to Green Township.

As for the name, Thankful, a "natural" for her students to toy with, she says:

"It's a family name. My ancestors from England, a family of Davis, handed the name down, generation to generation. ... I believe there were seven of my ancestors with that name. It's a Puritan name."

While teaching, she utilized the summer vacations to attend the University of Pennsylvania and Chicago University where she received her bachelor's degree. Three summers of study at Columbia University New York, were added to her educational background.

Her memory is rich with experiences of 53 years of teaching, but she eyes the transition of a one-room schoolhouse to the present, elaborate educational system with a calculated scrutiny.

Generation 5 (con't)

'It seems to me that everything has to be done in the school room today because of television.' I don't mean to condemn television, entirely. I also saw the development of radio lessen a youngster's desire to read."

In her retirement at Marion Center, Miss Clawson is going to attempt to satisfy her affinity for reading, a life-long pleasure for her.

After 48 years in the classrooms of, Indiana County, Thankful Clawson's application for retirement was accepted by the Purchase Line School jointure last month.

But retirement may not be easy for Miss Clawson as her love of the profession is deep, best, told when she remarked, with a twinkle in her eye, "I liked seniors but, to think of it, I liked all of them."

Suicide In Brushvalley (April, 1923)

David Wike shoots self with gun on Friday. David Wike, aged 54 years, a farmer of Brushvalley Township, committed suicide by shooting himself with a shotgun near his home on Friday evening, resulting in his instant death. Recently Wike has been acting somewhat queerly. He has been more or less quarrelsome and in many instances without apparent cause. On Friday afternoon he attended a public sale on the the farm of Joseph Phillips in the neighborhood. While there he acted queerly, wanted to fight somebody, but did not succeed in his attempt. After the sale he went to his home and got a shotgun and three loaded shells and going some distance from his home, out along a public road he sat down on a stone, placed the gun against his breast and with a forked stick pushed the trigger, the shot causing instant death. His body was found shortly afterwards and Coroner Stewart notified ex-county Commissioner Johnston Moorhead was deputized to investigate the cause of death. Moorhead found the facts as above stated and decided an inquest was not necessary. Wike is survived by his wife but no children. (Indiana Gazette).

Nelson B. Haire, Figure In Shooting Affray, Dies

New Florence Man, 83, Shot Neighbor, 62

BULLETIN

Nelson B. Haire, 83, New Florence, died at Memorial Hospital shortly before 2 o'clock this afternoon. He had shot himself and slashed his wrists yesterday after he fatally shot Clarence C. Brinker, 62, also of New Florence.

NEW FLORENCE--Receipt of a registered letter yesterday touched off a dispute of several months' standing and resulted in the slaying of one New Florence man and the critical wounding of another.

Generation 6 (con't)

The dead man is Clarence C. (Red) Brinker, 62, retired employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad. His assailant, Nelson B. Haire, 83, is in critical condition at Memorial Hospital, Johnstown. He is being treated for a self-inflicted gunshot wound of the abdomen and slashes of the wrists.

Brinker was killed instantly when he was struck by three bullets from a .38-caliber revolver. The shooting occurred at the double house here occupied by the Haire and Brinker families.

Florence Brinker, 26, daughter of the dead man, may have saved the life of her mother, Mrs. Bertha Brinker, 56, when she grappled with Haire when he turned toward her mother after Mr. Brinker was shot.

Authorities said when she noted the move, she rushed between Haire and her mother and forced the elderly man into a corner. She screamed to her mother to get out of the house and when she had done so, Florence also fled to safety.

Went To Workshop

Officers said Haire then left the house and went to a combination workshop and woodshed to the rear and at one side of the dwelling where he shot himself in the abdomen.

Investigating the shooting yesterday afternoon were New Florence Police Chief Frank J. Rehn, who lives nearby and was the first officer on the scene; Detective Sgt. William Johnston of Troop A, Pennsylvania State Police, Greensburg, and Merle Musick, chief detective of Westmoreland County.

Dispute Rent Agreement

In reconstructing the events leading to the shooting of Brinker, Sgt. Johnston said he learned there had been a dispute between the families for some time over a rent and light bill agreement. The Haires owned the house where the two families lived and the Brinkers were their tenants.

The officer said the agreement called for the Brinker family to pay their rent plus the light bill, less $1. Some time ago, it was reported, Brinker started to pay only half the utility bill rather than the amount stipulated in the agreement.

Sgt. Johnson said he learned that on Tuesday Brinker slipped a check for the rent under the door of the Haire home. It was said Brinker had paid half the light bill. The rent check was refused by the Haires.

Sent Check In Mail

On Wednesday Brinker mailed the check to Haire by registered letter. After the check was received in yesterday's mail, Mr. and Mrs. Haire went to the Brinker side of the house.

Brinker was seated at a table in the living room playing solitaire. Mrs. Brinker and Florence were in the adjoining kitchen. The officer said the two men exchanged heated words, after which Haire shot Brinker through the left leg. The tenant stood up and took a step whereupon two additional shots were fired. One bullet entered Brinker's head near the corner of his right eye and the other struck his neck and came out under the right shoulder blade.

Mrs. Brinker and her daughter went from the kitchen to the living room where Florence tussled with Mr. Haire. After the two women fled, Haire went to the workshop.

Chief of Police Rehn, who lives nearby, was attracted by Mrs. Brinker's screams. He rushed to the house where he found Mr. Brinker dead. He said he then turned to the Haire side of the house and found Mr. Haire lying on a couch. He reported that the elderly man tried to reach for the gun lying nearby but the officer was able to pick it up first.

Shot In Abdomen

Mr. Rehn said Haire showed him where he had shot himself in the abdomen. He stated the wounded man kept repeating, "They forced me to do it."

The local police chief said that Mr. Haire had shot himself after he had gone to the workshop, then made his way back to the house and lay down on the couch.

Mr. Rehn, realizing the need for assistance, went to look for help. He said while he was out of the house the wounded man again went to the workshop where he slashed his wrists and was about to hang himself from the rafters when Chief Rehn returned. He said Haire was about to step off a footstool when he was rescued.

Sgt. Johnston said a safety razor blade was found in a pool of blood at the edge of a workbench in the building. It is believed the elderly man used the blade to slash his wrists. A hatchet nearby also was bloodstained.

Haire was removed to Memorial Hospital, Johnstown, where his condition is listed as critical.

List Death Of 2 Men As Homicide And Suicide

No Inquest Planned In Fatal Shooting At New Florence

NEW FLORENCE -- The deaths of two New Florence men who were involved in a shooting affray Thursday will be listed as homicide and suicide, according to Joseph R. Check, Westmoreland County coroner. He stated that an inquest in the case will not be necessary.

The coroner said his records will show that the death of Clarence C. Brinker, 62, was homicide and that of Nelson B. Haire, 83, was suicide.

Mr. Brinker died instantly when he was shot during a quarrel with his landlord, Mr. Haire. The latter died of self-inflicted wounds shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Memorial Hospital, Johnstown.

The elderly man was admitted there about 24 hours earlier to be treated for a gunshot wound of the abdomen and cuts of the wrists. According to police, his injuries were sustained when he tried to take his own life after fatally shooting Brinker, his tenant and neighbor.

Long-Standing Dispute

Authorities said the shooting occurred at a double house occupied by the Haire and Brinker families. The Brinkers rented half the house from Mr. and Mrs. Haire. The dispute between the two men had continued for some time over the paying of rent and utility bills.

According to the investigating officers, Brinker originally had agreed to pay his rent and the utility bills, less $1. Several months ago the tenant refused to pay more than half the utility bills. Last Tuesday, Haire refused to accept a check which did not fulfill the original agreement.

Brinker then sent the check to his landlord by registered letter. Haire and his wife took the letter, after it was received Thursday, to the Brinker living room. The shooting followed a brief argument between the two men. Police said Brinker was killed instantly when Haire fired three charges from a .38 caliber revolver into his body.

The officers said Haire then left the Brinker home, shot himself in the abdomen, slashed his wrists -- apparently with a safety razor blade -- and finally attempted to hang himself.

Haire was taken to Memorial Hospital. Richard P. Wilkinson of Sidman, deputy coroner of Cambria

[hollis(anc.).ftw]

Dorsey Hollis was killed by a hit and run accident. Dad used to tell the story in such a way that it happened during prohibition. By his version Dorsey had gone to a neighbors to sample some bathtub gin that they were making. On the way back, drunk as a skunk, he was struck by a hit and run driver who was also supposed to be drunk. It was a good story that illustrates how the law was flaunted during our dry period, but it is far from the truth. In the two accounts from the Saginaw News the first thing to note is that the year is 1939--Prohibition ended in 1933!

2 CRITICALLY HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Two Saginaw men were hurt critically early Wednesday in automobile accidents, one apparently involved a hit-run motorist, who is sought by Saginaw sheriff's officers.

The victims are Dorsey D. Hollis, 55, of 2900 Williamson street, a Chevrolet foundry foreman, and Edward W. Waterstradt, 28, of 2926 Thayer street. Both are in grave condition at St. Mary's hospital, suffering possible skull fractures. Hollis, believed to have lain unconscious in the road about 6 hours, suffered greatly from exposure, his hands and feet being frozen.

Waterstradt.....

Sheriff Muehlenbeck said Hollis left home shortly after midnight to visit a neighbor. He was found Wednesday morning by a motorist. Although the victim's body shows no marked lacerations, the sheriff believed him the victim of a hit-runner because of broken glass found nearby. Garages are being checked for the wanted car. The accident occurred about half a mile from the Hollis residence, near the city limits.

HIT-RUN VICTIM DEAD OF INJURY

An autopsy Thursday indicated Dorsey H. (sic) Hollis, 55 of 2900 Williamson street, died of injuries inflicted by an automobile, Coroner William E. Honey reported. Hollis, hands and feet frozen, was found laying in the road about half a mile from his home Wednesday morning and died last night at St. Mary's hospital, apparently of exposure and a skull fracture.

Sheriff Muehlenbeck said fragments of glass believed to be from an automobile headlight, found near the scene, were sent via air mail to Washington yesterday afternoon for identification by Federal Bureau of Investigation experts.

No trace has been found of the hit-run motorist believed responsible for Hollis' death. Assistant Prosecutor Montgomery is investigating.

FLINT MAN TAKEN IN HIT-RUN CASE

A three-day search for a hit-run motorist whose automobile early Wednesday struck and fatally injured Dorsey H.(sic) Hollis, 55, of 2900 Williamson street, was believed ended Friday night with the arrest of a Flint man, now held at Saginaw county jail pending formal complaint, likely to be made Monday.

The suspect, Paul Higgins, 27 of 45515 Carlton street, Flint, was arrested by Sheriff Muehlenbeck and Supt. Dale Austin of the Saginaw county identification bureau, after it was established that he had taken his vehicle to a Flint garage for repair of a broken headlight and a dented fender. Authorities say there is other incriminating evidence. Higgins has refused to make any statement.

Some words on the trial of Paul Higgins for hit-and-run

It was in front of the Joseph Swarty farm that Dorsey was struck. The call came to the police on the morning of March 1, 1939 about 7am.

Dorsey was found lying on ice covered ground and was completely covered with snow. He had lain there long enough that he had melted down one inch into the ice. In his pocket was found an envelope with his address and no other identification at all. I speculate at this time that the envelope was his notification of divorce filed by his wife.

He was supposed to have left home around 2:15 am to see a neighbor named Buckner(s), yet he was found about a mile from home.

As to the trial itself it was a joke. The lawyers were the real trial with their objections, lack of interest at reaching truth, and not being serious about justice. Many of the witnesses took the Fifth. The testimony was contradictory without being challenged. It was interesting that the judge did find Higgins guilty of not giving aid!

One of the stories dad related was that grandmother Ellantine's brothers were glassblowers. Supposedly the partial set of cut glass shot glasses were made by one of her brothers.

Dear Niece and Family,

I received your lovely gift, you couldn't have gotten one anything I needed or appreciated more. Thanks so very much.

I am very sick and have been very [sick] now for a year. I doubt if I weigh 75 lbs. I have been bedfast since June. I am almost helpless. I am with Jerry. He takes very good care of me-my eyes [are] so bad I can hardly see so I have to have someone to write for me.

Do you remember Jewels' wife? She has been to see me quite often. They live in Detroit.

I hope all the family is fine and thanks again.

Love,

Aunt Ellantine

On the backside of the same letter:

Dear Madeline,

I am Jewels' wife Caroline. It's such a pity here. Aunt Ellantine has gone to a shadow. She has cancer all through her. It started in the bladder. She has a big lump the size of a small football between her legs. She can't eat. Uncle Jerry fixes her breakfast early in the morning before he goes to work. She eats two slices of French bread, cup of coffee, and that's all she eats 'till next day.

Don't mention cancer to her-she doesn't know it. I try to come up as often as I can. I love her dearly, so if I could only do something to help her. Dr. keeps her under dope most of the time the pain is so bad. I am having doctor out today. I will be with her 'till Sunday.

Lots of Love to All,

Your Cousin Caroline

Generation 6 (con't)

Mechanicsburg by Rev. J. M. Cogley.

According to the 1920 Census, Gertrude and her family were living in Bolivar, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania.

This write-up was believed to be written by Ruth (Warfel) Robertson:

Andrew and Hannah Pittman were parents of three children, Alphoretta, a baby girl who died at the age of four months and seventeen days. Harry contracted pneumonia and died at the age of nineteen. The four of them are buried in a small cemetery located on Cemetery Road, off route 259N, near the town of Brush Valley, Pa.

Gertrude Pittman, the surviving child of Andrew and Hannah (Pittman) Pittman, Hannah no relation to Andrew, lived on a farm outside of Brush Valley with her parents. The farm was large and today route 259N goes through the "cow pasture" that belonged to the farm. The farm house is still standing with a few changes and the barn is also there in fair condition. When Andrew and Hannah sold their farm they moved into the town of Brush Valley. The house is located along the main highway and directly across from a small gas station-grocery store. After Hannah died in 1928, Andrew sold the house and went to Homewood, Pa. to live with his daughter Gertrude.

Matthew Anderson Miller, son of Michael and Susan (Lapool) Miller, lived about two miles past the Pittman's farm. Michael Miller ran a grist mill on his farm, his other children were John Shields, Golden, Gladys, and Annie.

When Gertrude Pittman married Matthew Miller they moved to Bolivar, Pa., where Matthew worked at Hammonds grist mill and lived in the house beside it. The grist mill was located across the creek from the old Bolivar ball field, near the railroad arch, where the creek flows into the Conemaugh River. His brother John Shields also worked with him. Florence (1899) and Cora (1902) Miller were born in this house. From here the family moved to the corner of Second and Shaffer Street, this house was later known as the Moose Lodge Home.

Andrew Pittman bought a parcel of land on Shaffer Street in Bolivar for his daughter Gertrude, and Matthew built the family home and his own flour mill. Edna (1904) and Gladys (1910) Miller were born here. The local farmers brought their corn and other grains to the mill to be ground and Matthew also made flour and sold to other customers in town.

At the beginning of every summer the Pittman Grandparent's would arrive at the home of Gertrude and Matthew in their horse and buggy, which had a seat in back of the driver's seat, and take Florence and Cora to the farm to spend the summer. This was about a four hour trip which started after lunch. Edna was not well enough to stay and Gladys was too young, but they did visit the farm with their mother at other times. Florence and Cora did small house jobs for their grand mother and would ride in the horse and buggy with their grandpap to take milk, butter and cheese into Indiana (Pa.) to sell on Saturdays.

When work was slow at the grist mill Matthew started working for Ridgeview Coal Company. While working outside doing heavy lifting he was injured and died within two days at the age of 50. He is buried in West View Cemetery, Bolivar, Pa. One of Cora's fond memories of her dad was his taking Florence and her on Sunday visits to the Modesto (Mose) Bernabo farm, who sold milk to the local town people. The farm was located half way up the ridge above the West Bolivar bridge. Also after the girls grandmother Miller died, their grandfather Michael Miller came to live with them until his death in 1912. He always sat in a chair beside the coal stove and slept a lot. About eight years after Matthew died Gertrude married a former boyfriend who had lived in Brush Valley, Daniel Donahey, and they moved to Homewood, Pa. Daniel worked for the post office. Florence, Cora and Edna were married but Gladys was not and was living with her mother and step-father. Gertrude had asthma most of her life and was ill a lot of the time. She contracted pneumonia and died in 1930. Against the girls wishes, she was buried in Homewood Cemetery. Her daughter Edna Mae Miller Wunschell is also buried there. Four years after Gertrude's death Daniel committed suicide using a small hand revolver and is buried beside Gertrude in Homewood (Pa.) Cemetery.

Notes for Alfred Bruce Clawson:

The one story that I like to use about my grandpap Clawson is that he was disabled by two different work related accidents. In one, he lost three fingers on his right hand (occurred before 1918 according to a draft registration card) and he had only his thumb and pointer finger. He had the other arm amputated above the elbow in another work related accident when his shirt sleeve got caught in some machinery. When he was in his sixties and seventies, he was the manager at a Western Auto store in Seward, Pennsylvania. One day, a young guy came in and pulled a gun on him and tried to rob him. I guess he figured he would be an easy prey since he was old and disabled. My grandfather reached under the counter and pulled out the gun (A 38, I believe) that he always had at the store with him and told the guy that if he didn't leave the store in five seconds that he was going to shoot him. This guy didn't expect this and he hightailed out the store without ever trying to take my grandfather on. They caught this guy later on. My grandfather could be downright stern when he needed to be but he was still a fun person to be around. Also with his disabilities, he drove a standard shift automobile most of his life. (Told by Keith Clawson)

As told by Bruce A. Clawson, when A. Bruce Clawson was growing up, he lived with his parents near the Pennsylvania Railroad main tracks near Bolivar. When walking the tracks such as to go into Bolivar, he would carry a loaded pistol. This was due to number of hobos who would ride the freight trains that passed through. The hobos were known to attack and sometimes kill people that they would encounter along the tracks.

Another story told by Bruce A. was that A. Bruce and his brother Bobby (Ralph Davis Clawson) were going through Oak Grove (north of Ligonier) in an automobile one time. A. Bruce was driving the automobile. Someone ran from the side of the road and hopped on the running boards of the automobile. A. Bruce told his brother to get the man off the car and Bobby pushed him off the car. Bobby then proceeded to fire a few shots from a pistol at this person's feet to make sure he ran away and left them alone.

According to the 1930 census, Bruce and his family were living in Bolivar, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania.

Notes for Florence Hannah Miller:

Florence was called Nana by all of her grandchildren. She did not want to be called grandmother.

Indiana Gazette (April 14, 2006)

BLAIRSVILLE - Blairsville dentist John Yelenic was found dead Thursday afternoon with injuries that he apparently suffered in a violent struggle inside his residence at 223 S. Spring St., Indiana County Coroner Michael Baker said this morning.

Yelenic, 39, a partner in the Reilly & Yelenic Dental office at 135 E. Market St., died several hours before his body was discovered about 3:30 p.m.

A child noticed a broken window and some blood on the area of the front door at Yelenic's house and summoned two other people who opened the door and found Yelenic's body, Baker said.

□ There are multiple wounds on the body, but we do not know what they were made with yet, □ Baker said. He described the area surrounding Yelenic's body as one of disarray.

Yelenic's body was taken first to the morgue at Indiana Regional Medical Center, then was sent to the Cyril Wecht Pathology Associates in Pittsburgh for an autopsy that was to begin at 9 this morning.

No findings were available at press time.

Blairsville Borough police and state police crime-scene analysts investigated at Yelenic's residence Thursday afternoon but released no information and did not respond to calls requesting comment this morning.

Yelenic led a private life, by the accounts of his former wife, an aunt and a neighbor.

His estranged wife, Michele Yelenic of White Township, said they separated five years ago following a brief marriage, and their divorce case had proceeded quietly for the past year but was not final.

In October 2003, however, Yelenic was arrested by Blairsville Borough police for violating a protection-from-abuse order that Michele had obtained against him, according to a report published in The Gazette.

Generation 8 (con't)

The couple had a 7-year-old son, who longtime neighbor David Gilmore said was adopted.

□ He went to Sunday school at our church, Christian Missionary & Alliance Church in Blairsville, with his boy on weekends, □ said Gilmore, of 143 S. Spring St.

Gilmore, 50, said Yelenic's mother often asked him to baby-sit her son when he was a child, after his father died.

□ I'm 10 years older than he was □ She asked me to baby-sit him so he could have some male influence. □ Gilmore said Yelenic's mother, Mary Lois Yelenic, died in 1997.

Yelenic's father, John, died from a heart attack while driving on Route 22 in 1967, according to his aunt, Betty Yelenic of East Chestnut Street.

□ My youngest son, Michael, and John used to play together at the playground when they were children, but then John's mother became overprotective □ and the families drifted apart, Betty Yelenic said.

Yelenic had no brothers or sisters. Officials went to Michele Yelenic's residence just before midnight Thursday, considering her John Yelenic's closest relative, to officially give notice of his death.

A message left with Yelenic's dental office was not returned.

A pastor at Yelenic's church declined to comment.

Indiana Gazette (April 15, 2006)

BLAIRSVILLE - Indiana County Coroner Michael Baker ruled Friday that dentist John Yelenic was a victim of homicide, and local police put a clamp on information related to Yelenic's death.

Yelenic bled to death in his residence at 223 S. Spring St., Baker reported following an autopsy performed at the Cyril Wecht pathology laboratory in Pittsburgh.

But Baker withheld details such as the time officials believe Yelenic died and the nature of his injuries, although he said Yelenic apparently had been involved in a violent struggle less than 24 hours before his body was found.

Neighbors discovered Yelenic's body at about 3:30 p.m. Thursday and Baker pronounced him dead at 4:10 p.m.

The autopsy showed Yelenic suffered "severe blood loss," according to Baker, who listed exsanguination as the cause of death.

State police and Blairsville Borough officers investigated Yelenic's death, and troopers at the Indiana station said the Blairsville department was in charge of the investigation.

Messages left for Blairsville Chief Donald Hess and investigator Cpl. Janelle Lydic were not returned. Late Friday afternoon, an officer at the station said Hess decided to schedule a news conference for 1 p.m. Monday.

Yelenic was 39 and in the process of a divorce, according to his wife, Michele Yelenic of White Township.

Yelenic was a partner with Dr. Thomas Reilly in the Reilly & Yelenic Dental office along East Market Street, Blairsville.

Reilly did not return calls left at his office and home.

An employee at the dental office late Friday afternoon said workers were shocked about Yelenic's death and seemed "to be working on automatic pilot."

She said Reilly's semi-retired brother, Dr. Richard Reilly, came in to help treat patients on a full schedule of appointments.

Pennsylvania cop on trial for allegedly murdering girlfriend's estranged husband

Prosecutor: Trooper prayed for dentist's death
Tells jury he even asked another trooper to help him kill the victim

Murder Trial Begins: Lawyer Says Pa. Trooper 'Loathed' Slain Dentist Jury Almost Complete; Pa. Trooper's Homicide Trial Stays Local

INDIANA, Pa. - A western Pennsylvania state trooper hated his girlfriend's estranged husband, prayed that he would die and made up claims that he molested his adopted son, a state prosecutor told a jury as the trooper's trial began Monday.

Kevin Foley was living with Dr. John Yelenic's wife at the time the dentist's throat was slit on April 13, 2006. Yelenic, 39, was found dead in his Blairsville home the day before he was to sign his final divorce papers.

"This was in no way an amicable divorce," Deputy Attorney General Anthony Krastek told the Indiana County jury.

Foley "loathed Dr. Yelenic" and even asked another trooper to help him kill the dentist, Krastek said. Claims that Yelenic molested his son - also perpetuated by the dentist's wife - were unfounded, he said.

John and Michele Yelenic separated in 2002 and their divorce was so contentious the dentist's attorney asked a judge to issue a divorce decree a month after he died, saying the dentist would have wanted it that way. The judge ultimately rejected the request, finding Yelenic's death made the matter moot.

Krastek told the jury that DNA found under Yelenic's fingerprints link Foley to his death. Bloody footprints that match athletic shoes Foley was known to wear at the time will also link him to the crime, Krastek said.

"You will see Kevin Foley has the motive, the opportunity and the ability to commit this crime, almost to the exclusion of anybody else," he said.

'Jumping to a conclusion'

But Foley's defense attorney, Jeffrey Monzo, disagreed. He said the DNA evidence showed that Foley "could be" a match only because he "may not be able to be excluded."

Monzo acknowledged the two men didn't get along but said prosecutors were "leaping and jumping to a conclusion" in a "desperate attempt" to pin the crime on Foley, who remains on unpaid suspension from the state police.

"You should not confuse a dislike with a motive," Monzo said.

Monzo contends authorities failed to investigate at least three other suspects, including a neighbor to whom Yelenic loaned $15,000 so his wife could start a business. Monzo suggested Yelenic was friendly with the neighbor's wife, which might have given him a motive to kill the dentist.

Foley, 43, is charged with criminal homicide, a catchall charge that gives the jury the option of convicting him of first-degree murder or a lesser degree charge, including manslaughter. If convicted of first-degree murder, Foley would spend life in prison without parole.

A state grand jury presentment said that Yelenic's estranged wife and their adopted son stood to collect on the dentist's estate, including a $1 million life insurance policy. Foley had moved in with Michele Yelenic, the adopted son and her two other children in late 2004.

Generation 8 (con't)

The grand jury also determined that Michele Yelenic stood to lose about $2,500 a month in support under the couple's divorce settlement, which was days from being approved when the dentist was found murdered.

The trial is expected to last about two weeks.

March 11, 2009

The trial began today for a Pennsylvania state trooper accused of killing his girlfriend's estranged husband.

Kevin Foley, 43, is accused of cutting the throat of John Yelenic, a dentist who was in the final stages of finalizing a divorce from his wife, Michele. According to prosecutors, Foley "loathed Dr. Yelenic" so much that he asked another fellow trooper to help him commit the alleged murder, which occurred in Yelenic's Blairsville home.

Deputy Attorney General Anthony Krastek told an Indiana County jury that Foley also prayed Yelenic would die, and spread false rumors that Yelenic molested his adopted son.

"You will see Kevin Foley has the motive, the opportunity and the ability to commit this crime, almost to the exclusion of anybody else," Krastek said.

Foley's defense attorney, Jeffrey Monzo, said during opening statements that DNA evidence was not conclusive. Monzo admitted to the jury that Foley did not like Yelenic, but said that does not mean he murdered him.

"Kevin Foley is innocent," he said.

Prosecutors said they could call as many as 70 witnesses to try and prove Foley wanted Yelenic to die. The trial, at the Indiana County Courthouse, is expected to last about three weeks.

Foley, who is on unpaid suspension from the Pennsylvania State Police, is charged with criminal homicide. The jury has the option of convicting him of first-degree murder, which could put Foley in prison for life without parole, or of a lesser degree charge, like manslaughter.

John Yelnic was found dead in his home on April 13, 2006, one day before he was planning on signing his divorce papers. Prosecutors said Foley killed Yelenic after going to the dentist's house to confront him over the terms of the divorce. Prosecutors claim Foley slashed Yelenic several times with a knife and pushed his head through a small window, causing a further gash on his neck. Yelenic bled to death.

Foley had been living with Michele Yelenic for two years at the time of the alleged homicide. Krastek said Michele also helped perpetuate rumors that Dr. Yelenic molested their son. John and Michele Yelnic had been separated in 2002. Michele Yelenic stood to collect Dr. Yelenic's estate and a $1 million life insurance policy, and could lose about $2,500 a month in support if the divorce was finalized, a Pennsylvania grand jury previously determined.

Michele Yelenic is expected to testify that Foley was home with her when the alleged murder occurred. Krastek told the jury DNA under Yelenic's fingerprints will ultimately link him to the murder, as will bloody shoe prints found at the crime scene that match athletic shoes Foley is known to wear.

Monzo also said authorities have failed to investigate several other suspects, including Yelenic's neighbor. Monzo said Yelenic was on very friendly terms with the neighbor's wife, which could have given him a motive to commit the murder.

Prior to the trial, Foley's defense attorneys unsuccessfully sought a change of venue because an overwhelming majority of the jury pool was familiar with the allegations. The change was denied when jurors insisted they had not formed an opinion about the charges.

Dentist's Grisly Injuries Described At Pa. Trooper's Trial
Kevin Foley Accused Of Killing Girlfriend's Rich Husband In Indiana County

INDIANA, Pa. -- A well-known forensic pathologist described the brutal injuries suffered by Dr. John Yelenic, as the murder trial for Pennsylvania state police Trooper Kevin Foley entered its second day at the Indiana County Courthouse.

"In my opinion, the assailant was not very happy with Dr. Yelenic," said Dr. Cyril Wecht, a former medical examiner for Allegheny County.

Wecht told the jury on Tuesday morning that Yelenic's throat was slashed from ear to ear and his head was nearly severed inside his Blairsville home in April 2006.

"I think that once you are surprised, wounds are inflicted and you have no weapon of defense other than your arm, and we have a significant defensive wound on the right hand down the back of the right forearm. You're trying to flee and get out of there," Wecht said.

According to his testimony, Wecht believes that Yelenic tried to run out the front door to get away from an attacker, who then smashed the doctor's head through a window pane in the door and the impact sliced Yelenic's jugular. Yelenic was probably alive for another nine minutes before he bled out, Wecht said.

"What kind of emotion is evidenced by the assailant in this case? The multiplicity, the severity of the wounds all denote a passionate scenario. The assailant is someone who is very angry at Dr. Yelenic," Wecht said.

Foley, who was living with Yelenic's soon-to-be ex-wife, Michele, is charged with homicide and remains on unpaid suspension from his job.

Afternoon witnesses included Blairsville police Officer Jill Gaston, who was the first to arrive at Yelenic's home after the death. She testified that Foley had a gash on his face when she interviewed him.

Gaston said Foley told her that he suffered the facial wound playing hockey. His defense lawyers said the mark above his left eyebrow was first described as a "scratch" by Gaston, and only now at the trial did she call it a gash.

Wednesday's witnesses are expected to include some of Foley's co-workers from the state police barracks in Indiana.

Prosecutors allege that Foley got into a violent struggle with Yelenic after going to the doctor's house to confront him over terms of his divorce, which was to be finalized the next day.

In his opening statement, Deputy Attorney General Anthony Krastek said Foley "had a loathing" for Yelenic and tried to have him arrested and talked with other troopers about how he wished for the man's death.

Defense attorney Jeffrey Monzo said his client's personal feelings about Yelenic don't prove that Foley is guilty, and Foley maintains he had nothing to do with the doctor's death.

Foley guilty of 1st-degree murder
By Paul Peirce
TRIBUNE-REVIEW

Generation 8 (con't)

Thursday, March 19, 2009

An Indiana County jury found a state trooper guilty of first-degree murder for the slaying of Blairsville dentist John Yelenic in 2006.

The seven-man, five-woman jury deliberated just more than five hours, reaching the verdict just after 10 p.m. Wednesday.

Kevin James Foley, 43, of White, who was suspended following his arrest in September 2007, showed no reaction as the guilty verdict was read.

Several family members and friends of Yelenic who attended all eight days of the trial broke down and cried as the verdict was read.

The verdict carries a mandatory penalty of life in prison. Judge William J. Martin scheduled a sentencing hearing for 8:30 a.m. June 1.

Earlier yesterday, Foley repeatedly testified that he did not kill Yelenic.

Foley calmly told the jury, "No, I did not," when his attorney, Richard Galloway, asked whether he killed Yelenic, 39, on April 13, 2006.

Foley was living with the dentist's estranged wife, Michele Yelenic, at the time Yelenic was slashed and stabbed to death in his Blairsville home. The Yelenics were embroiled in a bitter divorce at the time of his death, including allegations of child molestation.

Foley was on the stand for several hours. Just before noon, Senior Deputy Attorney General Anthony Krastek began cross-examining him.

More than 100 people crowded into the spectator gallery to hear Foley's testimony. About 50 people were kept out outside Judge William J. Martin's courtroom because there were not enough seats.

Krastek accused Foley of taking a detour on his way home from a Fraternal Order of Police hockey game in Delmont, stopping in Blairsville and slashing and stabbing Yelenic, then pushing the dentist's head through a window.

Krastek alleges the 13-year trooper was bitter over the Yelenics' pending divorce settlement.

One of the most dramatic moments yesterday occurred when Galloway retrieved an evidence bag and produced Foley's white F.O.P. hockey sweater as evidence.

Numerous state police investigators have testified that they could not find the white sweater during two searches of Foley's home after the slaying.

On cross-examination, Krastek questioned Foley about the numerous times he told fellow state troopers and friends that he wished Yelenic were dead.

"Help me. Is it funny when you asked Trooper Dan Zenisek that you wanted help killing John Yelenic? What's so funny about that? Tell me the joke," Krastek said.

Foley replied, "There isn't any joke. It's just my personality, my behavior (with co-workers)."

Krastek asked "whether they were all jokes" in each instance that he told co-workers and strangers he wanted the dentist dead.

"Yes, sir. I never made a threat with the intention of carrying it out," Foley said.

Blairsville educator's book tackles elementary problems

Leisa Clawson Noel has 17 years of teaching experience and, as a result, possesses a pretty good understanding of the issues most students deal with as they advance through the public education system.

She decided to put those learned lessons down on paper and developed them into a book published in September with the challenging title "Every Elementary School Has a Lot to Learn about Respect."

Generation 8 (con't)

The book follows four characters as they enter the third grade and face situations any elementary school student might encounter. Along the way, the reader meets the students' parents, teachers and principal and gets Noel's take on the best way to approach the various scenarios.

"I think that everybody needs to look at things from both sides," Noel said. "Parents don't always see what the school is seeing, and the school doesn't always see what the parents are seeing. That's what the whole story brings out, that communication is so important and respect should be the center of everything we do."

Noel lives near Blairsville and is a learning support teacher at West Shamokin Jr.-Sr. High School in the Armstrong School District.

After earning her bachelor's degree in education from Indiana University of Pennsylvania, she initially taught fifth-grade students at schools in Virginia.

She eventually returned to Pennsylvania and to IUP, earning her master's degree in reading. She was employed at Hollidaysburg Area Senior High School before taking her current position.

Noel sat down in 2008 to write what she at first envisioned as a nonfiction book that would offer parents advice on how to deal with the public school system.

But after writing about 30 pages, "I was bored out of my mind," Noel said. She acknowledged that first version read like the procedural safeguards notice that is distributed annually to parents in her school district.

She put the writing project aside for more than a year before seizing on the idea of recasting it as a work of fiction with characters that live through and learn from school-related situations.

"I thought about creating a character and taking that character through school and talking about the family and the parents and what they're going through," she said. "As a learning support teacher, I've talked to a lot of parents, I've raised my own kids, so I've seen it from both ends."

She created four characters in total - Izzy, a learning support student; general ed student Sawyer; Abel, who has attention deficit hyperactivity disorder (ADHD); and a gifted student, Hannah.

Once she resumed work on the reconceived book, it took Noel a little over a year to finish writing it.

"Once I figured out what I was doing, it was easy," she said.

She completed most of the writing while her own kids were at practice sessions for various sports or faced a waiting period between tournaments.

"That's where I could write," she said. "When I wasn't around kids, I had a really hard time writing."

For research, Noel recalled her own days as an elementary school student as well as the lessons she'd learned as a mother and the school experiences related by her two natural children, two adopted children and two stepchildren, who range in age from 12 to 26. She also took some of the many scenarios she's seen played out in public schools and applied them to the group of third-grade characters she created.

Generation 8 (con't)

In her tale, cheerleader Izzy doesn't want to tell her mother about an ear infection that won't go away because she doesn't want to miss cheering at the last football game of the year.

Holding back that information, though, leads to problems at school for the girl because she can't hear things correctly, and she ultimately ends up in the hospital.

Meanwhile, Sawyer has grown bigger than most kids his age and loves to play football. But his atypical size causes older kids to bully him.

Abel is excited when some girls at school teach him to do cartwheels but is teased by some other boys who think gymnastics are just for girls. Lastly, Hannah struggles with her intelligence, downplaying her intellect in order to fit in better at school.

Noel also introduces readers to each character's family, their teachers and Mrs. Travail, a teacher-turned-principal who fights for the kids' right to recess.

The book's target audience originally was parents of school-age children, but Noel realized, "If I keep this written at the fifth-grade level, this could be something kids could get a lot of out of, too, identifying with the characters."

Several friends who are fellow teachers helped Noel edit her finished product, and they pointed out it could be good for teachers as well, helping them to recognize situations within their classrooms and how to react to them.

Noel also has university staff reading it to determine if it could be used in teacher training.

In the spring of 2011, Noel sent the finished manuscript to four publishing companies. The following July, Tate Publishing and Enterprises agreed to release the book, Noel said. It may have helped that the company representative she talked with had a friend who had just been through some of the scenarios covered in the book.

It took a full year to get through publishing process, according to Noel, "But boy, was it worth it when I had that book in my hands for the first time," she said.

As a reference for herself as she wrote, Noel drew sketches of each of her characters using Microsoft Paint software.

She said the book's illustrator, Tate Publishing's Liz Holt, "did a fantastic job of creating those characters from my crummy little dot-matrix drawing. She wanted to know what they were wearing, how they would stand. She was fantastic to work with."

Noel has already started writing a proposed second book in the series, which will follow the characters into middle school. And because middle schoolers are more social, new characters will be introduced, she said.

"Every Elementary School Has a Lot to Learn about Respect" can be ordered in print and e-book form online at <http://leisanoel.tateauthor.com>. Hard copies also can be found at Amazon and in local Barnes & Noble stores.

Noel will also have books available to purchase at two book-signing events planned in the area, the first being 1-3 p.m. Saturday at the Blairsville Public Library. She will also appear at 2 p.m. Dec. 1 at the Greensburg Barnes & Noble store.

The book retails for $23.99, but copies will be available for a reduced rate at the

Blairsville Family Goes 'Krazy' For Karts

By Jeff Himler, Staff writer
Friday, August 1, 2003

BLAIRSVILLE-George Clawson, his son, Dennis, and grandson, Zack, have a one-track mind for racing.

Over the past eight years, the Clawsons have become so revved up over go-kart competitions, they've opened their own dirt race track near the family's dairy farm off Rt. 217 in Blacklick Township.

Though there have been delays and cancellations due to rain, George said kart competitors and fans have responded enthusiastically to this summer's initial season of racing at the Blairsville Kart Track.

Generation 8 (con't)

With races scheduled every Sunday afternoon, through at least Aug. 31, the weekly events have attracted anywhere from 38 to 68 entrants on a given day.

"It's been very well taken for the first year," said George.

"This is mostly a family thing. People go to church in the morning and then they come to the track with their campers and cook on the grill."

Spectators bring their lawn chairs to enjoy a view of the action, as the ground-hugging vehicles of plastic or fiberglass round the one-fifth mile oval course.

Dennis noted, kart racers have come to the Blairsville track "from as far north as Mercer, from Uniontown to the south, from the other side of Pittsburgh in the west and from Somerset and Altoona to the east."

There is no upper age limit for participants in four senior kart racing categories. "We've had some guys who were in their 50s," George noted.

But, most importantly, he said, the kart events provide an alternate summer activity for bored youngsters between ages 5 and 15.

"These kids need something to do," George said, noting parents usually accompany the young racers to help them get their karts prepared for a trip around the track.

"At least I know where my son is," Dennis said about the racing pastime he shares with 11-year-old Zack.

"He enjoys it, and it's something we can do together. We have our competitions with other people, but me and him can still work together on our karts."

While they might not describe it as a relaxing hobby, most fans would agree go-kart racing provides plenty of diversion.

That's why George started the Clawson clan on the go-kart craze. He explained he ventured into the hobby to help calm nerves frayed by the stress of making ends meet on the farm.

"You have to keep stretching things more and more," he said of the dairy operation's budget. So, "My doctor told me to stop thinking so much about the farm and find something else I could do to relax."

Nowadays, he stays mostly behind the scenes or in the trackside pit, leaving the driving up to Dennis and Zack.

George said, "Every now and then, they'll talk me into entering a mechanics' race," a novelty event which pits pit crew members against each other.

It was Dennis' growing passion for the sport which gave rise to the Clawsons' new track.

George noted the family began developing the track on a corner of the farm in about 1998 so Dennis would have a place where he could practice. They shaped clay available at the site into an oblong track with turns banked at about seven degrees.

They began inviting other friends who frequented the kart racing circuit to use the facility--squeezing in more track time in the fall, after the competitive season was over at other commercial ovals in Acme, Kittanning and DuBois.

Generation 8 (con't)

At the urging of area drivers and fans, the Clawsons decided this year to adopt a formal race schedule and invite paying participants and spectators.

"That's how most of the tracks got started," noted Dennis.

"A lot of people start with these (karts) and then slowly move up," to more powerful race cars, Dennis said.

But, "I'm sticking with (kart racing) because of my son," he said, explaining Zack is too young to race larger vehicles.

Regulations can vary from one kart track to another. There are nine competitive classes recognized at the Blairsville track--based partly on the age of the driver and partly on the minimum combined weight of the entrant and his vehicle.

George pointed out, "A lighter weight person has an advantage over a heavier person," when speeding to the finish line.

To assure that the competition is fair, the racers must drive their karts onto a large scale to be weighed after each event.

Dennis Clawson tips the scale at 180 pounds. But his combined weight with his plastic-bodied "Lazer" model kart places him in the "senior medium" class--for competitors who are 16 years of age or older and have a combined weight with their vehicle of at least 350 pounds.

Zack climbs into a smaller "Predator" kart, racing in the "junior cage" class for those ages 9 to 14. In that division, the combined weight of kart and driver should be at least 290 pounds, which is heavier than either the junior rookie or junior stock classes.

Also, unlike the other junior classes, the cage category requires that the kart be fitted with a protective metal roll cage extending entirely up around the driver. For safety's sake, the racer also must wear a "four-point" shoulder and lap belt harness.

The youngest racers, ages 5-8, enter in the "pee wee" division, where a cage and a harness also are required.

Regardless of competitive class, George noted all race entrants must wear long sleeves and long pants, a helmet and a foam neck brace to guard against whiplash.

For each class, the field of entrants runs two 10-lap heats, the results of which will determine their line-up for the main feature race.

Most features last for either 15 laps or 20 minutes, whichever comes first, counting caution-related slow-downs and delays. For pee wee racers, the feature also is limited to 10 laps.

George explained the number of entrants in each division determines the prize payout to the top finishers in that week's feature race.

Trophies also are awarded weekly, while accumulated points will determine additional prizes and bragging rights at a season-ending banquet at a date and location to be announced this fall.

Final season points will be tallied following the Aug. 31 race, but Clawson noted additional purse races will continue into September as long as weather permits.

Compared to other racing formats, Dennis has found that go kart events are "not a real cutthroat competition. It's more family-oriented," with seasoned racers usually willing to share tips with less-experienced enthusiasts of the sport.

Generation 8 (con't)

He noted most kart racers, when vying for the lead down the stretch, "try to pass clean, without knocking anybody off the track."

Still, accidents can occur when a cluster of karts is entering one of the track's banked turns, at speeds of between 50 and 60 mph.

Said Dennis, "When you go into the corner too fast, (the kart) wants to slide around in a circle; your back end will pass up the front end. When you lose traction, you can get tangled up" with other karts.

As in other levels of racing, a mechanical or driver mishap involving one or more karts brings out the yellow caution flag, requiring all drivers to slow down and maintain their current positions on the track.

Once the problem is sorted out, the driver charged with causing the caution episode is sent to the rear of the field. If a driver triggers three caution flags, he will be disqualified from that particular race.

At the Blairsville Kart Track, the Clawsons have chosen to follow engine standards issued by the World Karting Association (WKA).

All karts are equipped with a Briggs and Stratton 5HP engine, the same type which powers most lawn mowers. The karts run on alcohol, except for the pee wee class, which allows fueling with either gasoline or alcohol.

All competitors must have karts equipped with Burris brand tires, which are manufactured locally in Indiana and are used at a number of other area tracks.

With a standard brand and a required slick tread, Dennis explained, "You know the tires didn't beat you," as opposed to the skill and know-how of the driver and his pit crew.

But, Dennis noted, a number of other factors involving both the kart and tires should be adjusted for optimum racing results, given the conditions of a particular track on a given day.

While too much dampness will result in a race cancellation, Dennis noted a certain amount of rainfall is desirable to firm up the track's loose clay surface and to control dust.

He explained tires can be had which use different compounds, providing a range of softness or hardness for preferred traction. Changing the pressure can further fine-tune a tire's grip on the clay track.

Regarding the kart itself, Dennis noted, a driver can make fractional adjustments to a series of washers, shifting weight among the front and rear and left and right sides of the vehicle.

"If it's not set up right, you can turn the steering wheel and the kart will keep going straight," he said.

Engine sprockets also may be adjusted, to affect the rpm of the kart's motor.

"Your engine builder can tell you at what rpm the engine gets its maximum output," George explained. "So you run for that rpm."

Generation 8 (con't)

While about 3,000 rpm is the normal level for a Briggs and Stratton engine, Dennis said, "I turn mine to 7,000," as do many other older racers in the senior classes.

But, he added, "You don't want a little kid turning the motor that fast."

Younger competitors must install a restrictor to limit the air flow to their engines.

All that practice calculating minute adjustments to his kart has given Zack a head start in mastering math concepts at school, his father noted. "It's helped him with percentages and fractions because they mean something to him."

Educational experts may debate the difference in math skills between male and female students.

But, Dennis indicated, female kart drivers have proven they can hold their own with their male counterparts.

While there are "powder puff" races for "girlfriends and wives" who tag along with male drivers, that doesn't stop female competitors from hitting the track in the main feature race.

About 10 of the regular racers who compete at Blairsville are female. As of July 13, Jennifer Galbraith was leading in points among the junior rookie division.

Dennis noted drivers of the the opposite sex he's encountered are just as aggressive in their pursuit of victory as any male racer. "I've been beat quite a few times" by members of the female contingent, he said.

He added that a female IUP student has been a mainstay at the Hunter Hill dirt track near Mount Pleasant. "I've raced against her for six or seven years."

Looking ahead to next season, the Clawsons have installed overhead lights and are proposing to hold weekly races on Saturday evenings instead of Sunday afternoons.

There will be advantages for the racers in switching to an evening schedule, Dennis said: "It's not as hot for the people, and the track won't be as dusty."

Also, George noted, it will allow the Clawsons and their many track assistants to once more attend Sunday morning church services.

As it is now, he said, "We have to be out at 9 in the morning to get the track ready."

The Clawsons drafted Paul and Georgeann Fess, who operate Hunter Hill, to supply kart parts for participants making last minute repairs or adjust ments at the track.

To fill the many crew positions at the track, they turned to some fellow kart enthusiasts from Derry--William and Bev Heckathorn and their extended family.

"Without them, we wouldn't be able to do this," George noted. "They handle the scorekeeping, watching the scales, flagging the races, signing people in and running the concession stand."

Based on the track's success this year, George is hoping to link up with the Pennsylvania Dirt Karters Association next summer.

He would like the Blairsville site to host one of a series of PDKA events which are scheduled at tracks throughout the state.

Generation 8 (con't)

If the special event can be arranged, George noted, local kart racers will have a chance to test their mettle in a different level of competition, pitted against drivers who travel all around the state in pursuit of their sport.

Since there are no other tracks participating in the PDKA circuit in western Pennsylvania, "It will draw in some big (competitors)," George predicted. "It will mean a lot of karts."

Current Sunday races at the Blairsville track begin at 2 p.m. The gates open at 11 a.m.

Ross E. Clawson, age 75, of Massillon died in Beacon Pointe Rehabilitation Center at Uhrichsville following a lengthy illness.

He was born May 4, 1933, at New Kensington, Pa., a son of the late Kenneth G. and Alta M. (Crail) Clawson.

Ross resided most of his life in Massillon and was a graduate of Massillon Washington High School Class of 1951. He had also resided in Uhrichsville for eight years. He had been employed by Central State Can Co., Union Drawn and LTV Steel for many years. He was a member of Chapel of the Cross United Methodist Church of North Lawrence and was a member of the choir. Ross was a well-known Gospel vocalist traveling throughout Stark and Tuscarawas County. He served as a scout master for many years, a former member of the Greater Canton Men's Chorus and the Massillon Senior Community Choir. Ross was a member of VFW Post 5407 at Navarre. He was a Korean War veteran, having served in the U.S. Navy aboard the USS Quincy.

Ross enjoyed woodworking, gardening, canning, cooking and until his health failed, he enjoyed hunting and camping.

One week prior to his passing, he managed to drive to the store to get a birthday card for his daughter, Diane. He wanted so badly to get her a gift, but his health would not let him make a second trip.

Seeing his frailty and his concern over not getting her a gift, the night before his passing Diane made this request of her father, "he could give her the gift of going home to be with the Lord to end his suffering and blend his beautiful singing voice with the heavenly choir." On Wednesday, Aug. 27, 2008, his daughter's birthday, he presented her this loving gift.

He is survived by two daughters and a son; Diane (Michael) Reese of Gnadenhutten, Debra Clawson and Steven Clawson of Massillon. He also is survived by seven grandchildren, a sister Eileen (James) Schumacher of Dalton, and a sister-in-law, Betty Clawson of Massillon.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by a brother, Kenneth G. Clawson Jr.

Military honors will be held Tuesday, Sept. 2, 2008, at 10 a.m. by the Newcomerstown Veterans Honor Guard at the Veterans Memorial in the Gnadenhutten Cemetery. A memorial service celebrating Ross' life will be held at a later date.

The family requests that any memorials be made to University of Pittsburgh Medical Center Melanoma Research, Forbes Tower Suite 8084, 3600 Forbes Ave. at Meyran Ave. Pittsburgh, Pa., 15213.
